THE NEW COURT OF APPEAL,

We can forgive the Ministry many of the blunders and short-comings that have marked the past Session in consideration of the Act which Lord Hatherley has carried for the reconstitution of the Judical Committee of the Privy Council. The Act itself is a very flimey specimen of those legal reforms which we have been promised so often, and for which we have lited so long. But after all, in matters of radical change it is only the first step that costs, and the first step in this case is of very essential importance indeed. Everyone knows that there are two Supreme Appellate Courts in our judicial system, deriving their origin. from divers historical conditions and constitutional forms. The House of Lords stands at the head of our legal tribunals on the one hand; on the other, the ultimate fountain of justice is the Judical Committee of the Privy Connoil. Both tribunals are unsatisfactory in their practical working. They are dilutory, costly-in a word, they are unpaid. The jurisdiction of the House of Lords was long sustain. ed merely for political motives, and the authority of the Privy Council was in like manner. upheld as a possibly useful branch of the prerogative. But with the progress of democratic opinions in England, the influence of such powers has waned. Nearly a generation ago the great body of the House of Peers parted with their strict right to interfere in the hearing of Appeals, and the Law Lords now constitute a professional committee, transacting all the appellute business of Parliament. The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, established some forty years ago, has in like manner absorbed all the original judicial authority of the Uhina Traders' Insurance Company's Shares-Queen in Council. But as is the case with the Low Lords, the eminent persons who sit on the Judicial Committee are not paid for their work. incolerably delayed, until this year such a disgraceful mass of arrears had accumulated that the Government were compelled to interpose. Hence Lord Hatherley's Bill, which provides China Fire Insurance Company's Shares-$62 for the payment of four Judges on the Judicial Committee. We are empowered henceforward to demand that the work of this great Court of because we pay bonestly and straightforwardly for it. It is more than probable that we shall soon apply the same measure to the legal jurisdiction of the House of Lords.

For the necessity of having one . entral Court of Appeal for all the home and colonial, the criminal and civil business of the Empire, has now forced itself even on the mind of the laity. The best class of lawyers bave long been agreed about the matter, and although this reform has not been of a kind to attract attention in Parliament, it has made its way slowly, but surely among all men of thought and culture. The practical interests involved are very considerable. The Courts of Common Law and Equity in England and Ireland, and Indo-Chinese Sugar Company-$20 per share the Scotch Courts send their appeals before the House of Lords. The Colonial Courts, which | Hougkong Pier and Godown Company, Limited administer some dozen different codes, the Indian Courts, the Ecclesiastical Courts, the Admiralty Court, all go for appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. In the ON LONDON,latter tribunal a few months ago, the accumulation of business in arrear appeared to be absolutely irremovable. Lord Hatherley, who has been promising level reform ever since the formation of Mr. Gladstone's Government, was at last moved to give us a sample of his quality; but we are bound to say that he has not encouraged us to hope for much from his hands. The Bill for the reconstruction of the Judicial Conmittee attempted to provide for the soundalous delays of that tribunal by appointing paid Judges; but it proposed to pay them at a rute which no lawyer of respectable standing would have accepted and to set up a mischievous, in sulting, and wholly needless distinction between the English and the Indian Judges who were to be selected. A vigorous protest on the part of the legal profession procured the withdrawal or modification of these obnoxious provisions. The four Judges whom Her Majesty is empowered by the Act to appoint paid members of the Judicial Committee are all to be remanerated at the same rate, and on a respectable scale. With a curiously obstinate passion for parsimony, the Government have refused to give fung to Hongkong merchant. these new Judges the ordinary allowance for a elerk, which makes the position inferior in fook-we to travelling merchant, dignity and in emolument to that of a Vice-Chancellor or a puisne Judge in one of the Common Law Courts, This is a blunder for which there is no excuse. If we think it worth fook-we to Hongkon's merchant. our while to go to the expense of making the principal Appellate Court of the Empire a real fook we to Hongkong merchant. working tribunal, we ought to try to secure the best men for the work. It is quite certain that to foreign merchant. we will not get the best men if we underpay them, as Lord Hatherley's Bill provides. This, to foreign merchant. however, is a minor question, for everyone must see that the position of these new Judges ought | reign merchant to Hongkong merchant. at least to be made equal in point of dignity !
